Julia,

I agree with the flexibility, so I have no issues with it! Perhaps students can find another econ course that complements better their career goals.

Regards,

Monca

Subject: economics requirement for accounting majors

Monica,

Informally, I have asked around and there is an appetite among the accounting faculty to let our students take any economics course they want to satisfy the core. We currently require Money and Banking.

Based partly on feedback from people who have had this course, I don't think it necessarily benefits them in terms of career. We would like to give them as much flexibility as possible.

Do you have any issues with this?
